Decolonizing Education with Ethnic Studies!

New Ethnic Studies Requirement

For ALL Credential Program Applicants - Effective Fall 2021

Ethnic Studies is the critical and interdisciplinary study of race, ethnicity, and indigeneity with a focus on the experiences and perspectives of People of Color within and beyond the United States.

CBEST & CSET Digital Library

The Center for Careers in Teaching has put together a digital library to provide students with access to study materials in electronic formats. Please complete our request form (linked below) if you would like to request access to the CBEST & CSET Digital Library during this 2020-2021 academic year.

All requests will be considered, however, we have limited access to the digital library, so priority will be given to students intending to enter a high-need credential program (Special Education, Mathematics, Science, or World Languages) and to those who intend to take these exams during the 2020-2021 academic year in order to meet credential program admission deadlines.

Malcolm Forbes defined diversity as "the art of thinking independently, together." Today our organizations, schools and institutions are required to innovate and change in order to maximize their productivity and engagement. By looking at some research-based propositions concerning diversity, organizational leaders and team members can understand why creating a diverse team creates success.
