Let's Talk About It:
Exploring Critical Issues in Education

LGBTQ Youth Fight For Equality
In Sex Ed In South Carolina
Classrooms

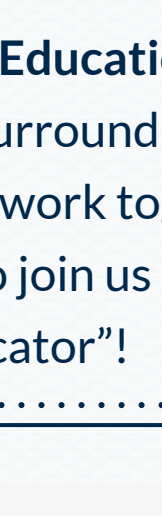

In South Carolina, it's illegal for teachers to address queer relationships, unless they're talking about sexually transmitted infections, also called STIs.

South Carolina is one of a handful of states that restricts how teachers speak about queer relationships in class. Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Texas also have "no promotion of homosexuality" laws on the books, many of which were filed in the late '80s and early '90s, at the peak of the HIV/AIDS crisis.

If you would like to learn more about the fight for equality in sex education, please copy and paste the link below:

NOW RECRUITING!

2020-2021
OFYE PEER MENTORS

The Office of First Year Experience is currently recruiting volunteer undergraduate students who can serve as a resource, support system and role model to first-year undeclared students. Being a Peer Mentor provides an opportunity for current students to learn about first-year students' transition; enhance communication skills, develop leadership skills, and contribute to the CSUF community.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS?

At the end of their training and experience, Peer Mentors receive two certifications:

One by the College Reading and Learning Association International Mentor Training Program as a Master Level III peer mentor

The other from NASPA's Certified Peer Educator program as a Certified Peer Educator.

UNIV 397: The Peer Mentor Experience course credit or internship credit if needed.

Priority Registration for Fall 2020

Opportunity to work a diverse group of people to include faculty, staff, and other students.
