Timothy Allen is an innovated leader in higher education with proven success in holistic approaches to promoting student success, strategic education planning, career and life planning, team-building, and inspiring students to reach their potential through self-awareness, motivation, self-efficacy, and self-esteem. He has a solid background working with diverse community college student populations, particularly (AB540, EOPS, ESL, DSPS CalWorks, TRIO, Veterans, International Students, Immigrants, Asylum).

He also has an academic leadership background. Timothy participated in the Leadership Pipeline Program at Golden West College, a cohort learning community designed to enhance leadership skills and abilities.

Joseph Hackbarth began his college career at Fullerton College receiving his A.S. in Electronics in 1998. In addition he received a B.A. in Business Administration, M.S. in Information Systems, and M.S. in Software Engineering from CSU Fullerton. He has worked at CSU Fullerton as a network analyst/programmer since 2004. He has participated as campus technology expert for CSUF during the implementation of the e-Transcript California project. e-Transcript is a California Community College led project involving three statewide educational systems (CCC, UC, CSU) which allows electronic delivery of transcript data.

He currently serves as the Information Technology Director in the office of Admissions and Records at CSU Fullerton. In his current director role he is leading development and enhancements to the PeopleSoft student information system related to student admissions and records. He has also been responsible for leading technology enhancements for other areas on campus including New Student Orientations, EOP Admissions, Housing and Residence Life, and International Student Admissions. Research areas of interest include: Technology Trends in Higher Education, IT Governance, and Transfer Student Programs.
Nancy S. Jones
Adjunct Professor / Dean of Instruction
Coastline Community College

Nancy S. Jones has dedicated over 19 years of service at Coastline Community College. During her time at Coastline Community College she has held several positions including the following: Professor for Computer Networking, and Academic Senate President. Nancy is now an Adjunct Professor for Computer Networking and is the Dean of Instruction. She has also held positions in statewide committees. She was a part of Chancellor’s Business/CIS Statewide Advisory and Executive Committee for 7 years. She was also part of the advisory committee for the Chancellor’s Economic and Work Force Development and the Chancellor’s Technical and Telecommunications Advisory Committee.

Nancy completed her Bachelor’s degree in Business from Oral Roberts University, and her Master’s in Communications from Cal State Fullerton.

Tina M. King
Student Affairs Adviser & Professional
Cal State Fullerton

Tina M. King received her B.A. in Liberal Studies with a concentration in Pan African Studies from California State University, Northridge (CSUN) in 2004, and completed the Multiple Subject Credential program in 2005 from CSUN, and a M.A. in Teaching from the University of Southern California (USC) in 2011. She is currently a Student Affairs Professional at California State University Fullerton.

King spent the past ten years in the P-12 educational system prior to her transition into higher education. King began her trajectory as an educational advocate for underrepresented students from marginalized backgrounds in 2005 when she took her first teaching position at Compton USD. She also worked for Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD) as a Site Coordinator and Learning Facilitator for the remainder of her career in K-12. In 2013, King realized her strong desire to enter into higher education and accepted a position as a Special Consultant at Fullerton Community College. In 2014, King took a role as the Student Affairs Officer at CSUF where she is currently. King is actively involved at CSUF, she serves on the College of Education Success Taskforce and several other committees. King has found NASPA and ACPA to be her Student Affairs Professional homes as she is serving in leadership roles for both professional foundations. Lastly, her research interest focuses on men of color (Black males) in higher education, specifically, at community colleges.
Community College/Higher Education Leadership Education
Ed.D. Students, Cohort 6

Julie Nguyen
College Life Coordinator
Orange Coast College

Julie Nguyen received her B.A. in Sociology from the University of California, Los Angeles and a M.S. in Higher Education from the California State University, Fullerton. She is interested in the functional areas of student activities, leadership development, international, and career services. Currently, she is the College Life Coordinator at Orange Coast College where she advises student leaders to host campus activities and oversee 50 clubs and organizations.

Robert Shields
Adjunct Instructor / Educational Technology Support
CA Baptist University & OPS

Robert Shields received his B.S. in Computer Science from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, and his M.A. in Educational Technology from Pepperdine University. He has been serving at California Baptist University (CBU) since 2001, and joined the University's Online and Professional Studies Division (OPS) in 2011. Robert provides support and training for the University's learning management and video conferencing systems. He also provides information technology / help desk support for the OPS Division. Robert also serves as an adjunct instructor. Prior to joining OPS, Robert served as the University Webmaster.