Suggested Professional Dress and Appearance

Candidates in the Multiple Subject Credential Program are expected to dress professionally for the field of teaching. It has been said that student teaching is like a 5- or 8-week job interview; the impression that one makes has an impact on the school site administrator and other staff members. Student teachers should portray a professional look and are expected to be a role model for the children. Some articles of clothing and jewelry may be considered “in fashion” but are not considered “professional” and it is recommended that they not be worn at the school site during fieldwork or student teaching. Examples include, but are not limited to:

- Tongue, eyelid, or lip piercing
- Visible tattoos
- Undergarments showing, such as bra straps, panties, or briefs
- Crop tops that allow midriff to show
- Low-rise pants that allow torso and/or bottom to show
- Flip flop sandals
- Shorts
Guidelines for Communicating Concerns

Communication is a big part of being successful in this program so make sure to check your CSUF email at least once per day. In addition, Candidates are expected to maintain standards of professional communication at all times while in the program and should follow appropriate procedures when expressing concerns regarding university instructors, supervisors, master teachers, etc.

Concerns regarding Master Teachers:
• Communicate concerns to the university supervisor.
• If necessary the supervisor will consult with the Block Leader.
• Under no circumstances should candidates discuss concerns with other school site personnel (e.g., other teachers; the principal), or fellow candidates.

Concerns regarding University Supervisors:
• Communicate concerns in a professional manner to the supervisor to try and reach resolution.
• If concerns are not resolved, the candidate should speak directly to the Block Leader.
• Under no circumstances should candidates discuss concerns with fellow candidates, Master Teachers or other school site personnel.
• Many supervisors provide opportunities for student feedback on course evaluations. Information from course evaluations is taken seriously and used for program improvement.
Concerns regarding instructors:
• Communicate concerns in a professional manner to the instructor to try and reach resolution.
• Under no circumstance should candidates discuss concerns with other instructors, fellow candidates, master teachers or other school site personnel.

Professional Dispositions Expected of Candidates

Faculty model and encourage all candidates to reflect dispositions that represent the values and attitudes expected of professionals in the field of education. These dispositions are based on the Education Unit’s conceptual framework and encompass several behavioral indicators within the three program outcomes. As candidates move through their programs it is expected they demonstrate a commitment to fairness, a belief that all children can learn, and an increasing ability to:

Promote Diversity

- Candidates value all aspects of human development including the diverse ideas, views, strengths, styles of learning, talents, and abilities of each learner. They are committed to the inclusion of multiple perspectives, voices, cultures, languages, experiences, and values. They recognize that each individual brings a depth and richness to the whole that helps develop understanding of individual complexity and appreciation for one another.

Engage in Collaborative Endeavors

- Candidates demonstrate interpersonal and communication skills that promote respectful and collaborative relationships with families, colleagues and other professionals to support student learning and well-being. In their work with others, candidates model and encourage positive social interaction, active engagement in learning, and self-motivation.
Think Critically
• Candidates systematically reflect on their practice and constructive criticism from others to make informed decisions and grow as effective educators and specialists. In their work with others, they use a variety of formal and informal assessments to evaluate progress and performances, identify individual and group needs, and modify their teaching and/or leadership strategies for program and individual growth and improvement.

Maintain Professional and Ethical Standards
• Candidates understand and fulfill the ethical and professional responsibilities of educators and specialists as defined in state, national, and institutional standards. They display the emotional maturity, academic integrity, and professional commitment necessary to successfully demonstrate these standards in their work with students, families, and other professionals.

Value life-long learning
• Candidates understand that professional development is a continuing process. They demonstrate the necessary skills to take responsibility for planning and pursuing their ongoing learning, reflecting with colleagues in their practice, and for contributing to the knowledge-base of the profession. In the field they act as responsible change agents by contributing to the school as a learning organization to foster student learning and well-being.
