A key element of our College’s mission is to prepare transformative professionals who advance just, equitable, and inclusive education in an increasingly global context. With this mission in mind, describe a problem of practice (in a P-12 setting), in 2-3 pages, that you are currently facing or have previously faced that has highlighted educational inequities in the setting or broader social context. How did you address the problem or how are you currently addressing the problem? What has been your position and role in addressing this problem? What has been the impact of your contribution?
