iPad App of the Month

Google Keep

Google Keep is a platform for creating/organizing notes, generating lists, and setting reminders. It is a creative app for making To Do lists. The list could be changed into a task analysis; students can ✔ each step upon completion. Reminders can be set based on location, promoting student self-sufficiency/independence.

Mentor Support for Teachers

Free mentor support for early-career teachers in K-12 Special Education (1-5 years in the field) who completed their SPED credential from CSUF is available. We encourage you to complete the form if you would like mentor support from a CSUF faculty member or expert teacher. The online form will allow you to identify the type of support needed and your area(s) of concern.

Dual-Language Learners with Disabilities: Supporting Young Learners in the Classroom

The IRIS Center module titled: Dual-Language Learners with Disabilities: Supporting Young Learners in the Classroom presents evidence-based practices (EBP) that support young, dual-language learners with disabilities or those at-risk for developmental delays. Experts present the challenges that teachers often encounter when working with families and recommend best practices (i.e., Division for Early Childhood Recommended Practices) for screening and assessment.

National Goals in Research, Practice and Policy for and with People with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

In August 2015, experts and advocates met in Washington, D.C. to review the history of special education and to set national goals for individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. The areas of focus included: aging, education, employment, economic self-sufficiency, family supports, health and wellness, justice, supports and services, self-determination, self-advocacy, and social inclusion.
